It is with great pleasure that I announce the appointment of Dr. Fady Daniel as Assistant Professor of Clinical Medicine, subspecialty Gastroenterology, in the Department of Internal Medicine.

Dr. Daniel graduated with the degree of Doctor of Medicine from Saint Joseph University in Beirut in 1998; after which, he did four years of residency training in Internal Medicine (1998-2000) and Gastroenterology (2000-2002) at Hotel-Dieu de France in Beirut and three years of fellowship training in Paris, France, at Hôpital Européen Georges Pompidou and Hôpital des Diaconesses (2002-2005) and graduated as specialist in Gastroenterology. During his fellowship in France, Dr. Daniel earned several university diplomas, including in specialty areas such as inflammatory bowel diseases, gastrointestinal motility, digestive oncology, and medico-interventional proctology and ano-rectal diseases. Dr. Daniel became a member of the National French Society of Colo-Proctology. He also did a preceptorship in Medical Education at Université de Montreal in Canada in 2005.

Until he joined AUB, Dr. Daniel worked in Beirut since 2006 as an academic gastroenterologist at Hotel-Dieu de France and was assistant professor of medicine at Saint Joseph University School of Medicine. Since 2010, he was also Head of Gastroenterology Service at Bellevue Medical Centre, affiliated with the School of Medicine at Saint Joseph University.

Dr. Daniel will be involved in teaching, research and clinical activities of the Department of Internal Medicine, and will be actively engaged in all the academic and clinical services of the Division of Gastroenterology and Hepatology including the GI fellowship training program and starting a Proctology program.

Dr. Daniel will be seeing patients in his private clinic. He can be reached at his office C-550A (extension 5791), in clinic (extension 5800), at beeper # 0531, and by e-mail: fd21@aub.edu.lb

Please join me in warmly welcoming Dr. Fady Daniel to the AUB community.
